My dear Gray

I had just posted a letter to you when I received yours of the 10th Dec - the documents from the Smithsonian we just come to hand May thank for them in reply to your question - If your Chomelia andwinia is more than 2-celled I should certainly put it into Guettardella - the three genera Chomelia Antirhoea and Guettardella are very closely allied but the American Chomelia at least have I believe never more than 2 cells.

You will see in my flora that I have quite adopted your view of Guettardella whose character I think are even more constant than you did - for the sorolla of Amorpha is certainly I should say not valvate

Yours very sincerely
George Dontham
